ABSTRACT

This document analyzes Nebraska data from the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) concerning trends and significant changes in head count enrollment, degrees awarded, institutional finance, full-time faculty at Nebraska's 13 public and 17 independent colleges and universities, and enrollment and degrees at the state's private career schools. Highlights of the data include the following: (1) 1994 total Fall head count enrollment for the state's 29 public and independent postsecondary institutions was 115,432 students, down from an all time high of 116,767 for Fall 1993; (2) the continued growth of part-time student enrollment at Nebraska's Community Colleges; (3) Nebraska's minority enrollment was 5.6 percent in 1990, lower than the national norm of 20 percent; (4) for 1989-90 through 1993-94, the number of degrees granted by Nebraska's Public and Independent colleges and universities increased from 15,979 to 18,289; (5) state appropriations for public institutions increased from $283 million in 1989-90 to $348 million for 1993-94; and (6) for public and private colleges the number of full-time instructional faculty increased from 7,172 for Fall 1985 to 8,102 for Fall 1994, an increase of 13 percent in 10 years. Extensive appendixes contain additional tables on headcount enrollment, degrees awarded, institutional finance, faculty salaries, and private career schools. (JB)

A PROFILE OF NEBRASKA POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION

Enrollment

1. In Fall 1994 total head count enrollment at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities was 115,432, down from an all time high of 116,767 for Fall 1993. Full-time enrollment also was down at 66,233 for Fall 1994, compared to 67,163 for Fall 1993. Part-Time enrollment has been essentially constant since Fall 1990 when it was 49,827. In Fall 1994, it was 49,208. For Fall 1994 Nebraska enrollments:

    - 71% of students at Nebraska's Community Colleges were enrolled part-time.
    - Full-time students comprised 70% of the University enrollment, 69% of the State College enrollment and 74% of the Independent College and University headcount enrollment.
    - Race/ethic minority enrollment has increased from 5.4% in Fall 1990 to 7.4% of the Fall 1994 enrollment.
    - The Nebraska county or non-Nebraska residence for first-time enrolled freshmen at each of Nebraska's public postsecondary institutions is highlighted with maps in Appendix A, Tables A18 through A30.

2. Historically, Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities have increased their enrollments through Fall 1993. From 1987 through 1993, Nebraska's 2-year and 4-year public postsecondary institution enrollment increases were comparable to U.S. rates. From 1973 through 1993, Nebraska's 2-year public institutions grew in enrollments at a faster rate than Nebraska 4-year public institutions.* Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities experienced a reversal from declining enrollments for 1983-87 to increases for 1987-93.

3. Migration of students into and out of Nebraska is in balance. Nebraska ranks:

- 31st in percentage of college freshmen who leave the state to attend college (17.5% -- national average is 19.1%)
- 37th in percentage of college freshmen who entered the state to attend college (17.8% -- national average is 20.4%)

Continued growth in Nebraska postsecondary enrollments is not expected to occur from net migration. Growth is more likely to come from internal forces, either from increased births or by higher postsecondary participation from the nontraditional college age, 25-44 years-old, Nebraska population.

—Source: U.S. Dept. of Ed. - NCES, State Comparisons of Education Statistics: 1969-70 to 1993-94, Table 46, June 1995.

4. Nebraska high school graduates are motivated to attend postsecondary institutions. Nebraska ranks high in high school graduation rate and for high school graduates' direct continuation to postsecondary education. For Nebraska:

	1988			1992
CHARACTERISTICS	U.S.	NE	NE RANK	U.S.	NE	NE RANK

The basis for postsecondary enrollment growth is high school graduation which is directly related to the birth rate. The upper line on the graph below displays that Nebraska is in a period of declining birth rates. The lower line graph shows Nebraska will experience a relatively small increase in high school graduates through year 2010. Nebraska currently graduates approximately 20,000 students per year. The number of high school graduates is projected to peak in 1998 at 23,000 (up 15%) and then drop to approximately 21,250 (up 6.25% over current rate) by year 2005.

5. Nebraskans of all adult ages have participated in postsecondary education

- Nebraska consistently ranks high in the 50 states in Fall head count enrollment in public postsecondary education as a percent of resident population:

- Projected Nebraska population ages 25-44 is relatively stable, but slightly decreasing through 2020. Any increase from the 25-44 age group will require their increased participation in postsecondary education enrollment. The enrollment data available for this age group is from IPEDS and appears on the following chart. If their participation rate will increase, stay relatively constant, or decrease is unknown. We will chart the rate as the data are provided in future odd-year IPEDS reports.

6. The future growth of enrollments related to information technology and distance learning technology is unknown. Nebraska is increasingly utilizing telecommunications and other technologies to deliver courses. The table below displays numbers for 1993-94. In time, we expect to capture data to show the growth in this new avenue to learning.

Degrees Awarded

The number of degrees awarded were at an all-time high in fiscal year (FY) 93-94. A total of 18,289 degrees were awarded, up 5% over FY 92-93, and 12% over FY 1990-91. For the fiscal years, 1989-90 through 1993-94:

- The most common choices for a major program area at the associate and lower level were physical sciences, which annually graduated 33% to 35%, business, with 22% to 25%, health, with 17% to 21%, and general arts and sciences, with 8% to 11% of each year's associate and lower level degrees.

- For baccalaureate degrees, the largest numbers of graduates for 1989-90 through 1993-94 were in business, which accounted for 26.5% to 29%, education with 14.5% to 16.5%, and social sciences with 15% to 17% of the total for each year. Other disciplines that have

6. Nebraska's postsecondary students are paying a relative low tuition cost compared to other states. For Nebraska during the period 1990 through 1994:

- The portion of revenue the student pays (tuition) of "appropriation plus tuition" is below the national average:

7. While the tuition and fee increases during the past 5 years at Nebraska public postsecondary education institutions exceeded the increases in (1) state per capita income and (2) state disposable income and (3) inflation, participation rates for the state did not change significantly.

- In the most recent 5-year period 1989-90 thru 1994-95:

INCREASES IN TUITION AND FEES RELATIVE TO ECONOMIC FACTORS

Sector	Tuition Increases	Economic Factors	Percentage Increase
University	32% - 40%	State Per Capita Income	27.7%
State Colleges	32% - 34%	State Disposable Income	26.7%
Community Colleges*	22% - 30%	Inflation (CPI)	22%

* An exception is Mid-Plains Community College which made a big adjustment between 1990-1993.

- The increased tuition and fees at most of Nebraska's two-year and four-year public institutions claimed not more than one additional percent of disposable income. Exceptions were UNO and UNK, where the amount of disposable income required to pay tuition and fees increased 1.2% and 1.1%, respectively and Central Community College and Western Nebraska Community College which showed net decreases, rather than increases.

Faculty

Full-time faculty information (IPEDS excludes part-time and adjunct faculty) shows:

- For Fall 1993, compared to a United States average, Nebraska's full-time faculties had higher percents of females at the assistant professor rank, but had lower percents at the professor, associate professor and instructor ranks.

  From Fall 1993 to Fall 1994, Nebraska's percents of females increased for all ranks, including the "no academic rank" category which is increasingly used at Nebraska's Community Colleges.

PERCENT FEMALES BY ACADEMIC RANK

Rank	U.S. Fall 1993	Nebraska Fall 1993	Nebraska Fall 1994

Associate Professor	28.8	23	25
Assistant Professor	42.5	45	46
Instructor	47.7	52	54
No Academic Rank	N/A	37	39

- For Fall 1990-1994, average salaries for full-time faculty had an average annual increase of 3.3%. After adjustment for cost-of-living, this was a 0% average annual increase.

Some Notes About the Data 59

INTRODUCTION

The information contained in this report was taken directly from the IPEDS (Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System) survey forms. The report provides statistical data with analytical summaries related to head count enrollment, degrees awarded, institutional finance, and full-time faculty data at Nebraska's 13 public and 17 independent colleges and universities. The public and independent institutions of higher education in Nebraska provide the data annually at the request of the U.S. Department of Education. The Nebraska private career postsecondary schools that completed the IPEDS Consolidated Survey are included to provide profiles on enrollment and degree completions and other awards. The Private Career Schools in this report are eligible for Title IV federal funds. Other Nebraska Private Career Schools that do not utilize Title IV funds and do not complete the IPEDS surveys are not in this report.

The purpose of this document is to provide data and to report analytical findings on postsecondary education in Nebraska. Using comparisons with past years, the report focuses upon persistent trends and significant changes that appear in the data. In several cases, the Nebraska data are compared to national norms. All numerical comparisons are based on IPEDS data. The analytical discussion is enhanced by graphics. Data used for the analytical discussion are identified in the accompanying appendices.

Because Kearney State College became the University of Nebraska at Kearney in July 1991, careful attention is given to the assignment of that institution. For direct, system-wide comparisons and where it was practical for the data handling, Kearney data were consistently assigned to the University of Nebraska system. There are exceptions to this placement. Any exceptions are identified in the text and in the appendix tables. Also, the Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture (NCTA) at Curtis is split out as a distinct entity beginning with the Fall 1992 survey data. Prior to this time, the NCTA - Curtis data were maintained on the Commission's computer files as a part of the accumulation for the University of Nebraska - Lincoln.

The Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education appreciates the efforts and cooperation of registrars, business officers, private career school officials and IPEDS coordinators at the numerous institutions. Questions relative to the analytical summaries, the IPEDS data or the Nebraska private career schools survey should be directed to Dr. John A. Ingram, Research Officer.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY
A Factual Look at Higher Education in Nebraska

Head Count Enrollment

The 1994 total Fall head count enrollment for Nebraska's 29 public and independent postsecondary education institutions was 115,432 students. This was a decrease of 1% from the 1993 enrollment. It reflects an average annual increase of 1.3% for the period of 1989-94. Fifty-seven percent of the 1994 total head count enrollment was enrolled full-time,down from 58% in 1993. The enrollments reported are for the Fall term of each year.

The distribution of the public and independent college and university total head count enrollment by sector for 1994 was: University of Nebraska 43%; Community Colleges 32%; Independent Colleges and Universities 17%; and State Colleges 7%.

Enrollment Changes for the Institutional Sectors

In total, the University system Fall head count enrollment has been relatively stable. From Fall 1985 through 1994 the University of Nebraska full-time head count enrollment increased from 32,333 to 34,686 for an average annual increase of 0.8%. In this same time, the part-time enrollment, which represents 13% of the 1994 University fall enrollment, experienced an average decrease of 1.3% per year. The full-time fall enrollment decreased by 3.6% between Fall 1993 and 1994.

From Fall 1985 through 1994 the full-time head count enrollment for the State Colleges (excluding Kearney) increased by 1,663 for an average annual increase of 185 students, or 4.3%. The part-time enrollment for the same time period increased by 927 students. For 1994, the total head count enrollment was 8,740. This total included 62.5% full-time enrolled students. Compared to Fall 1993, the Fall 1994 full-time enrollment and the part-time enrollment both increased.

The Community College system differs from the University and State Colleges in that 71% of that sector's total Fall head count enrollment is part-time students. In comparison, part-time students make up 29% of the combined enrollment for Nebraska's State Colleges and Universities and the Independent Colleges and Universities. The high number of part-time students in the Community College system is supported as an ongoing pattern. For 1985, the part-time head count enrollment was 68% of total; in 1988 it was 71%; in 1991 it was 71.5%; and it reached 71% in Fall 1994. For Fall 1985-1994, the Community College full-time enrollment increased by 2,448 (29%) and the part-time increased by 8,742 (49%).

The continued growth of part-time student enrollment at Nebraska's Community Colleges is one prominent characteristic of change in the Nebraska public postsecondary education system.

The Independent Colleges and Universities' Fall total enrollment patterns are quite stable with a modest increase, up an average of 2.2% for the years 1985-1994. For Fall 1994, the Independent Colleges and Universities had 57% full-time enrollment in a total head count enrollment of 12,872 students. Between 1993 and 1994 this sector experienced an increase in full-time enrollment and a decrease in the number of part-time students. The net result was an increase in total fall head count enrollment.

Enrollment by Gender

Each of Nebraska's postsecondary education sectors enrolls more females than males. In Fall 1994 this ranged from 60% females for the State College system to 51% for the University sector. In Fall 1994, the Community Colleges enrolled 57% females, and the Independent Colleges and Universities enrolled 59% females.

Enrollment by Race/Ethnicity

Compared to a national norm, Nebraska population and enrollmenet have relatively low percentages of race and ethnic minority persons. IPEDS information for the United States and for five bordering states shows that in 1990 Nebraska's minority enrollment in higher education institutions was 5.6%, compared to 20% for the U.S. norm.[1] Nebraska's minority enrollment of 5.6% is lower than its 1990 minority population that was 6.3% of total population.

The 1990 head count enrollment in Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities with known race/ethnic classification included 94.6% White, Non-Hispanic students and 5.4% from race/ethnic minority classifications. In 1990, the Black, Non-Hispanic group represented the largest number of minority students, making up about 2.5% of total enrollment. The Fall 1994 number was 3.0% Black, Non-Hispanic students.

The percentage of racial or ethnic minority head count enrollment for Fall 1994 was, by sector: 9.2% for the Independent Colleges and Universities, 7.6% for the Community College sector, 7.0% for the University sector, and 5.0% for the State College sector.

In Fall 1994, the University Sector contained 40% of Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities known minority postsecondary enrollment count and 43% of its total headcount enrollment. The comparable rates for the State Colleges were 5.3% of the minorities and 7.6% of enrollment, the Community Colleges had 33.8% of the minorities and 32% of enrollment, and the Independent Colleges and Universities had 21% of the minorities and 17.2% of the total enrollment.

Freshmen Residence

Residence information is collected through IPEDS in even-numbered years. In 1990, the definition was restricted to residence for first-time freshmen students who were enrolled for credit courses. The 1994 information provides home residence for Nebraska residents by County, and for non-Nebraska residents by the state or foreign country. This information was collected for Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities.

For all public sector institutions, the number of first-time fall enrolled freshmen with Nebraska residence exceeded the number of non-Nebraskans in 1992 and again in 1994. It was 8.6 residents to 1 non-resident in 1994. The ratio of Nebraska to non-Nebraskans was 6.3 to 1 at the University, 3.7 to 1 at the State Colleges, and 21.8 to 1 at Nebraska's Community Colleges. However, for the Independent Colleges and Universities, the ratio of Nebraska to non-Nebraska first-time enrolled students was 1.4 Nebraskans for each 1 non-Nebraska resident for 1994.

Of all first-time fall enrolled freshmen in Nebraska, 39.6% were enrolled at the University of Nebraska system, 36.2% at Community Colleges, 18.5% at Independent Colleges and Universities, and 9.6% at Nebraska State Colleges. In total, 84% of the first-time freshmen students were Nebraska residents.

This report includes graphic displays of the Nebraska home county of residence, and counts for non-residents for Fall 1994 first-time freshmen at each of 13 Public Colleges and Universities. UNMC does not admit freshmen, so it is excluded. These maps, with comments, appear in Appendix A as tables A18 through A30.

The graphics and analytical summaries beginning on page 1 support these findings. The enrollment data in Appendix A provides a reference for the analysis and the graphics.

Degrees Awarded

For 1989-90 through 1993-94, the number of degrees granted by Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges & Universities increased from 15,979 to 18,289. For this five-year period, the relative percentage of all degrees granted was stable: degrees requiring less than 4 years of training ranged from 27% to 29% of the total, bachelors degrees were 55%, and masters degrees around 11% of the total. Together, first professional and doctoral degrees account for about 6% of each year's total number of degrees. Post-baccalaureate certificate and post-masters certificate programs each provide less than one percent of the total.

Degrees and Other Awards by Degree Level and Major Discipline Groupings for Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities

The following identifies the predominant major discipline areas statewide by degree level for the academic years 1989-90 through 1993-94:

- The most common choices for a major program area at the associate and lower level were physical sciences, which annually graduated 33% to 35%, and business, which graduated from 22% to 25% of these (2-year) degrees. Other, common choices were health, with 17% to 21%, and general arts and sciences, with 8% to 11% of each year's associate and lower level degrees. For 1993-94, the most common associate/certificate degree choices were the physical sciences with 1,701 completers, business with 1,057 completers, and health with 1,012 completers.

- For baccalaureate degrees, the largest numbers of graduates for 1989-90 through 1993-94 were in business, which accounted for 26.5% to 29%, education with 14.5% to 16.5%, and social sciences with 15% to 17% of the total for each year. Other disciplines that have consistently graduated relative higher percentages of the baccalaureate degrees are humanities 10% to 12%, physical science 8% to 11% and health 7% to 9%.

- At the masters level, education consistently accounts for 37% to 42% of the degrees awarded. Business is second with 14% to 20%, followed by social sciences with 10% to 12.4%. In 1993-1934 education accounted for 40% of the masters level degrees, another 17% were in business, and 10% were in social science disciplines.

- Post-masters degrees continue to be awarded primarily in education, 30 to 40 per year, with the balance conferred in health. For 1993-94 there were 35 post-masters degrees. All were in education.

- The numbers for first professional degrees conferred show very little variation for this five-year period. For 1993-94, law was 41.8%, medicine 27.9%, dentistry 14.8% and pharmacy 15.5% of the total number of first professional degrees.

- Doctoral degrees were primarily in education (27%) and life sciences (25%) for 1993-1994. Physical science accounted for 17% of the doctoral degrees, social sciences 10%, business 10%, humanities 6%, and general arts and sciences 1%. All health and law doctoral degrees are counted in first professional degrees.

- Considering all degrees granted at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities, business is the discipline with the largest number of degree completions (4,108) followed by physical sciences (2,744), health (2,649), and education (2,495).

- The predominate choices for degree completers at Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities are business, then health sciences. There were 1,142 business degrees and 936 health science degrees granted in 1993-1994 by Independent Colleges and Universities.

Degrees and Other Awards by Race/Ethnicity

Of the 1993-94 completers of degrees and awards with known race/ethnic background, 91.9% were White Non-Hispanic, 1.9% were Black Non-Hispanic, 3.1% were Non-Resident Aliens, 1.3% were Asian/Pacific Islanders, another 1.2% were Hispanic and 0.6% were American Indian or Alaskan.

Degrees conferred in 1993-94 for race/ethnic minority persons can be characterized for Nebraska as follows:

- Of the 346 degrees and awards to Black Non-Hispanic persons, 63% were baccalaureate degrees, 19% were associate/certificate awards, and 18% attained a masters or more advanced degree.

- 58% percent of the American Indian/Alaskan Native completers received an associate degree or a certificate award.

- 43% percent of the Asian/Pacific Island completers received the bachelors degree. Another 43% attained a masters or more advanced degree.

- Of the Hispanic group, 27% were associate/certificate completers, 54% attained a bachelors degree and 17% received the masters or a more advanced degree.

- Non-Resident Alien persons earned more degrees in Nebraska than were received by any one race/ethnic minority group. Non-Resident Aliens received 560 degrees of which 49% were bachelor degrees and 48% were masters or a more advanced degree.

- Second to White Non-Hispanic persons, Non-Resident Alien persons had the largest number of completers receiving bachelors, masters, first professional, and doctoral degrees. In contrast, Non-Resident Aliens had fewer associate degrees and certificate awards than any race/ethnic group.

The graphics and analytical summaries that appear beginning on page 20 support these findings. Data on degrees awarded in Appendix B can provide a reference for the analysis and the graphics.

Institutional Finance

The IPEDS finance survey collects data on institutional revenue and expenditures at each Nebraska Public and Independent College or University. Because their funding sources are very different, this report provides finance information about the Nebraska Public Institutions, then about the Independent Colleges and Universities.

Nebraska Public Institutions - Revenue

State appropriations for Nebraska's public institutions have increased from $283 million in 1989-90 to $348 million for 1993-94. This is an increase of 23% in five years. For 1993-94, state appropriations are the major revenue source - 33% of total revenue - for Nebraska's public postsecondary colleges and universities.

Nebraska's public postsecondary education revenues from student tuition and fees were up 36% for 1993-94 over 1989-90. Student tuition and fees were 13% of total revenues for 1993-94. By 1992-93 figures,[2] Nebraska's tuition and fees revenues, at 12.8% of total, were lower than the United States norm of 18.0% of revenue. The percentage of education cost paid by Nebraska public postsecondary students was lower than the national norm.

For 1992-93, Nebraska's revenue from the University Hospital produced a substantially higher portion of annual total revenue (18.4%) compared to the United States norm of 10.9%. In 1993-94, the Nebraska revenue from University Hospital was 18.2%, slightly lower than in 1992-93.

For Nebraska's public colleges and universities, federal grants and contract dollars went from $85 million in 1990-91 to $103.8 million for 1993-94. For 1993-94, the federal grants percentage of Nebraska revenues was 9.8%, down from 10.3% in 1992-93. The national norm was 10.8% for 1992-93.

Relative to a U.S. profile of revenue, the single dominant characteristic is the relative lower percentage of total revenues provided by tuition and fees in Nebraska public postsecondary education. Nebraska's percent of revenues from the University Hospital exceeds the U.S. norm for hospitals. But this revenue is offset by an equal dollar expenditure ($19 million) for the hospital.

Nebraska Public Institutions - Expenditures*

For 1992-93, instructional expenditures at Nebraska's public institutions were 27.6% of the total. This was lower than the U.S. rate of 32.8%. The Nebraska percentage was unchanged for 1993-94.

For 1989-90 through 1993-94, dollar expenditures for research increased by 38.5%. In 1989-90, research expenditures were 9.4% of the total, while for 1993-94 they were 10% of the total.

For 1990-91 through 1993-94, the principal change in expenditures for Nebraska public institutions was higher percentages of total going for research and the University Hospital, with reductions in percentages for instruction, public service and plant operation and maintenance.

* An evaluation for Nebraska revenue and expenditures for public postsecondary institutions relative to the U.S. norm recognizes that hospitals are an unusual budget item for Nebraska. So data tables on page 31 for revenue, and on page 35 for expenditures holds out hospitals and auxiliary enterprises, for a comparison of the remaining institutional finance sources. With this qualification, for 1992-93, Nebraska revenue percents were below the U.S. norm for state appropriations and tuition/fees. Nebraska was higher in the percents of revenues from local appropriations, and private gifts and grants. Relative to a U.S. norm, the 1993 Nebraska percentages of expenditures were higher for research, public service, and scholarships/fellows, but lower for instruction and student services. Because none of the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities operate hospitals, it was unnecessary to have a similar comparison for that sector.

[2] Digest of Education Statistics, October, 1992. 1989-90 was the most recent year for which a national summary is provided for IPEDS data.

Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities - Revenue

For 1989-90 through 1993-94, actual dollars received from tuition and fees increased from $97 million to $148 million, a 52.4% increase over 5-years. As a percentage of total, this source increased from 41.5% to 46.3% of revenues. Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities depend on tuition and fees as the major source for revenue.

In 1993-94, sales and services of educational activities at 19.8% of total was the second largest source of revenues for Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities.

Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities - Expenditures

For 1992-93, 26.5% of U.S. private college expenditures were for instruction. Meanwhile, Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities spent a significantly higher percentage, about 43%, for instruction. The Nebraska rate remained at 41.3% for 1993-94.

In 1989-90, the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities financial support in scholarships and fellowships was 12.3% of the total, versus 8.7% for the U.S. norm. Those rates are increasing. For 1992-93, the Nebraska rate was 14.2% while the U.S. rate was 10.6%. In 1993-94 the Nebraska rate was 14.0% of total expenditures.

Areas where Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities were below the 1992-93 United States norm for percentage of expenditures include research, auxiliary enterprises and plant maintenance and operation.

The graphics, analytical summaries and IPEDS data tables that appear beginning on page 30 are presented to support these findings. The data on institutional finance in Appendix C can provide a reference for the analysis and the graphics.

Faculty Salaries

Number of Full-Time Instructional Faculty by Rank and Gender

For Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities, the number of full-time instructional faculty increased from 7,172 for Fall 1985 to 8,102 for Fall 1994. This is an increase of 13% for ten years.

Since 1989, there has been an increase of 6.5% in the number of professors, and 1.5% in the number of associate professors. In this same 5 years, the number of assistant professors increased by 9.8%.

In Fall 1994, there were 1,022 professors at Nebraska's Public and Independent postsecondary institutions of which 89% were males; 933 associate professors of which 75% were males; 1,046 assistant professors of which 54% were males; 292 instructors of which 46% were males; and 704 positions of no academic rank of which 59% were males. For full-time instructional faculty, the percent of males increases directly with the academic rank.

For the instructor rank, the number of females (157) exceeds the number of males (135).

Since 1985, there has been a reversal in the number of full-time instructors and the number of full-time no academic rank assigned positions. In 1985 there were 761 instructors and 206 no rank assigned positions. Then in 1988, there were 469 instructors and 467 positions with no academic rank assigned. In 1994, there were 292 instructor positions and 705 positions with no academic rank assigned. This reversal, displayed in a graph on page 43, reflects assignments of title made at the Nebraska Community Colleges.

Average Salaries of Full-Time Instructional Faculty

An evaluation of all Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities for the years 1989 through 1994 shows average salaries for full-time faculty increased from $34,604 to $42,163. This is an increase in actual dollars of 21.8%, for an average annual increase of 4.4%. For a measure of the change in buying power for increased salaries, the Consumer Price Index (CPI) is used as a price deflator with 1989-90 as the base period. The 1994 average salaries adjusted by the CPI results in an average increase in buying power of 0.6% per year for professors, 0.5% for associate professors, 0% for assistant professors, 0.4% for instructors and 1.4% for no academic rank.

For 1994, with 1985 as base, the actual dollar salary change for professors ($36,362 to $57,496) increased 58%, for an average annual rate of 6.5%. The related average annual change for other ranks was: associate professors 6.5%; assistant professors 6.0%; instructors 4.6%; no academic rank 5.4%. Salaries are computed on a nine-month basis.

Full-Time Instructional Faculty Tenure

For Fall 1994, the percentage of full-time instructional faculty by rank that were tenured was: professors 96%; associate professors 72%; assistant professors 14%; other (includes instructors, lecturers and no academic rank) 9%.

Ten percent of the Community College faculty were tenured in Fall 1994. At the Community Colleges, tenure has a meaning that is different from that at the remaining postsecondary institutions.

The graphics, analytical summaries and IPEDS data tables that appear beginning on page 43 support these findings. The data on faculty salaries in Appendix D can provide a reference for the analysis and graphics.

Nebraska Private Career Schools

There are about sixty Private Career Schools in Nebraska. Thirty-two of those schools completed the Fall 1994 IPEDS surveys and are included in this report. The Private Career Schools in this report are ones that are eligible to participate in federal financial assistance programs authorized by Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Enrollments

Head count enrollment was available from the IPEDS surveys for full-time and part-time status, gender, and race/ethnicity categories.

For the 32 reporting schools, the total head count enrollment was 3,361 students. Of these students, 3,015 (89.7%) were full-time enrolled. 69% of those enrolled were women.

Relative to the 1990 Census of Population, the distribution of Private Career School students age 18+ by race/ethnicity reflects a higher percentage of Black Non-Hispanics and Hispanics, and a lower percentage of White Non-Hispanic persons.

Completions

The number of degrees and other formal awards granted was available from IPEDS surveys for categories including gender and race/ethnicity.

Of the 2,052 completers reported for Nebraska Private Career Schools, 1,533 or 75 % were women.

95% of the graduates were identified by race/ethnic category. Of those with known race/ethnicity, 83.8% were White Non-Hispanic, 13.4% were Black Non-Hispanic, 1.4% were Hispanic, 0.7% were Asian Pacific Island ancestry, 0.6% were American Indian, and 0.1% were Non-Resident Aliens.

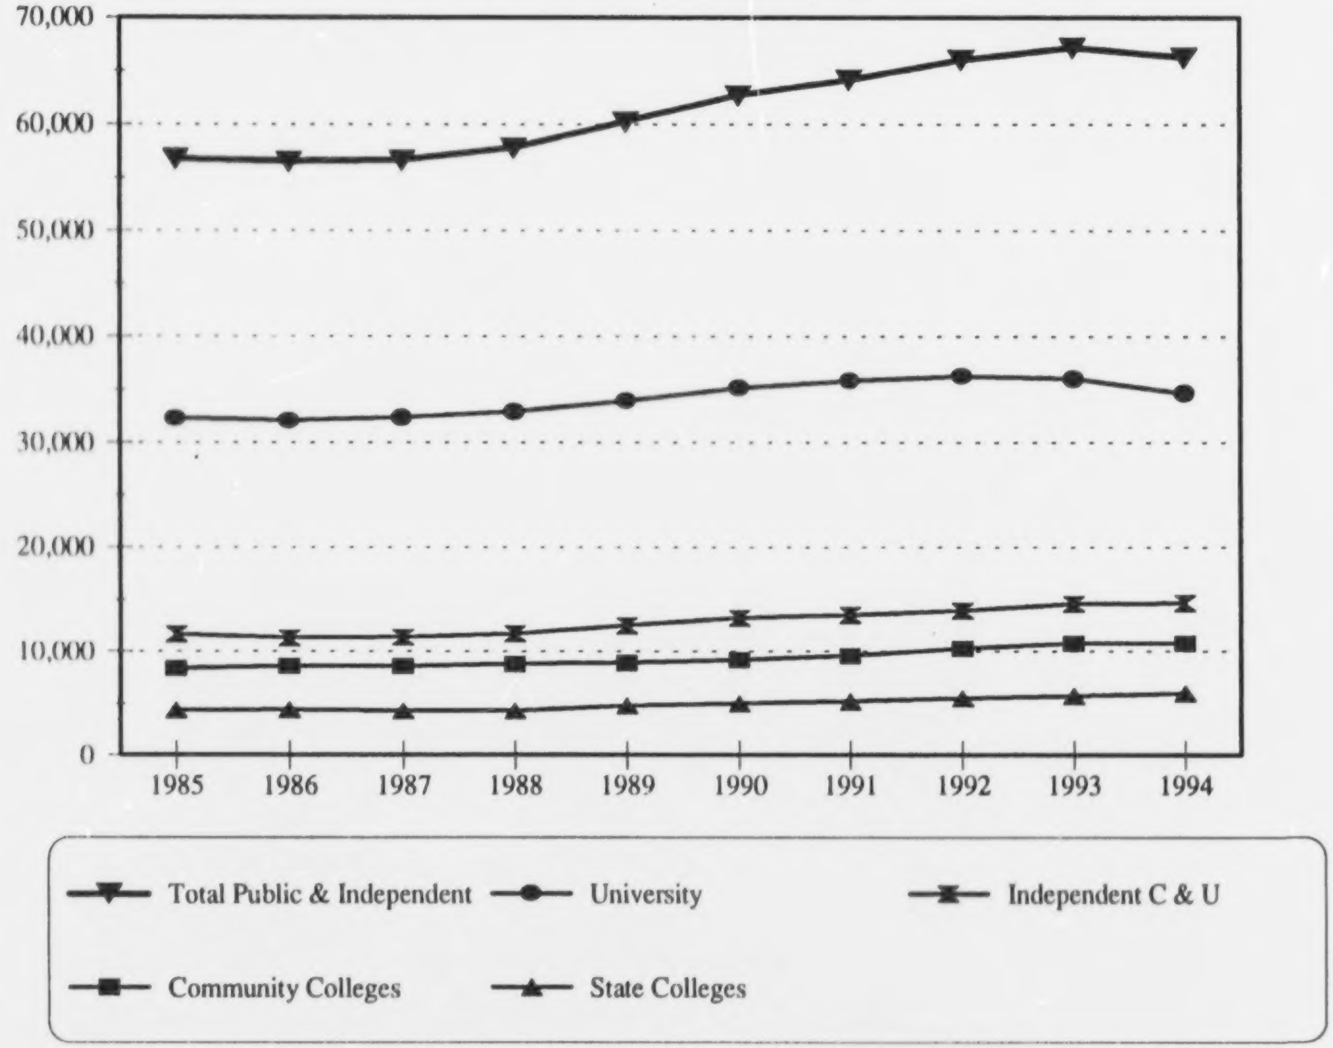
FULL-TIME FALL HEADCOUNT ENROLLMENTS
NEBRASKA PUBLIC AND INDEPENDENT COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES



COORDINATING COMMISSION FOR POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION

Full-time Fall Head Count Enrollment 1985-1994

- Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities full-time fall head count enrollment for postsecondary education increased from 56,741 in 1985 to 66,233 in Fall 1994. This change translates to a 1.9% average annual increase in full-time head count enrollment. The enrollments reported herein are fall term for each academic year.

- For the years 1985-88, the Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities total full-time head count enrollment was relatively flat. Beginning with 1987, there was an annual increase in full-time enrollment. Through Fall 1993, full-time enrollment continued to increase. It was 66,233 in Fall 1994, down 1.4% below the Fall 1993 full-time enrollment of 67,163.

- For 1994, the percentage of full-time students of total head count enrollment was: University system 70%; Independent Colleges and Universities 74%; Community Colleges 29%; State Colleges 69%.

- For 1985, the Nebraska public postsecondary institutions' full-time head count enrollment was 45,031. The enrollment pattern was level through 1987, gradually increased to 52,529 in 1993, then dropped to 51,495 in Fall 1994. This is a 1.4% average annual increase for the 1985 to 1994 period.

- The 1985 full-time enrollment in the University system was 32,333. The University full-time enrollment increased gradually by year through 1992, decreased in Fall 1993, and decreased again in Fall 1994. In 1994, the number was 34,686 full-time University students.

- In 1985, the State Colleges (excluding Kearney) enrolled 4,327 full-time students. This enrollment was nearly constant for 1985 through 1988. Since 1988, growth has been steady with an average annual increase of 39% for Fall 1998 through Fall 1994. For 1994, the full-time head count enrollment was 5,990.

- The Community College institutions have increased in full-time head count enrollment from 8,371 in 1985 to 10,819 in 1994. This increase of 29.25% translates to an average annual increase of 272 students or 3.25% per year.

- For the Fall 1985, the full-time enrollment for Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities was 11,710. Enrollment decreased in 1986, then increased each year to 14,738 in Fall 1994. This change equates to an increase of 3,028 students for a 2.9% average annual increase for Fall 1985 through Fall 1994.

- In summary, the increase in full-time Fall head count enrollment continues for all four sectors except the University which had a 4.4 % decrease between Fall 1992 and Fall 1994.

* The data for this summary appear in Appendix A, Tables A3, A4, and A7.

65

Part-time Fall Head Count Enrollment - 1985-1994

- Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities experienced a steady increase in part-time head count enrollment for 1985 through 1990. From 1990 through 1994, the part-time enrollment remained essentially constant.

- For 1985-1994, Nebraska's public institution's part-time enrollment had the same pattern as total: it increased to 1990, then stayed essentially constant. The 1994 number (44,062) is a 22% increase over the 1985 part-time enrollment of 36,132.

- For 1994, the percentage of part-time to total head count enrollment for Nebraska's Community Colleges was 71%; for the University system it was 30%; for Independent Colleges and Universities it was 26%; and for the State College system it was 31%.

- The University of Nebraska part-time enrollments increased through 1989, then decreased through Fall 1994. The Fall 1985 University part-time enrollment was 16,555. For Fall 1994, the part-time number was 14,816.

- The Nebraska State College system's Fall part-time enrollment increased during the years 1985-1991. Since 1991 that part-time enrollment has decreased to 2,661 for Fall 1993, then increased to 2,750 for Fall 1994. The 1994 count is 51% above the 1985 count of 1,823.

- From 1985 to 1994, Nebraska's Community Colleges increased Fall part-time enrollment by 49%. The Fall 1994 Community College part-time head count enrollment (26,496) was the largest for any of the sectors. The Nebraska Community Colleges part-time enrollment for Fall 1994 was down slightly from Fall 1993 (-0.9%).

- For Fall 1985, the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities part-time enrollment was 4,881. That enrollment decreased during 1985-89, and in 1989, it dropped to 4,646. Since 1989, the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities appear relatively stable in part-time Fall head count enrollment, with the numbers regularly varying within plus or minus 5 percentage points of 5,000 enrollment.

- Because the IPEDS information does not include full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment calculations, another section will highlight the full versus part-time mix of the enrollments for the Nebraska public and independent postsecondary institutions.

- The growth in part-time students at Nebraska's Community Colleges is a positive and continuing characteristic.

* The data for this summary appear in Appendix A, Tables A5, A6, and A7.

Total Fall Head Count Enrollment With a Comparison of Percentage Full-time to Part-time Enrollments - 1994

- The 1994 total Fall head count enrollment was 115,432 including Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities. The comparable enrollments for 1985 and 1990 were 97,754 and 112,521, respectively. The increase from 1992 to 1993 was 1.0%, and the decrease from 1993 to 1994 was 1.0%. For the five years 1989-1994, the total Fall enrollment had a 6.7% increase, for an average annual increase of 1.3%.

- In Fall 1994, the Public institutions contributed 83% (95,560) of Nebraska's Public and Independent postsecondary enrollment. Within ±1%, this is the same percentage (83-84%) as for 1990, and for 1985.

- The distribution of the total head count enrollment by sector for Fall 1994 was: University of Nebraska 43%, Community Colleges 32%, Independent Colleges and Universities 17%, State Colleges 7%.

- For Fall 1994, the University of Nebraska sector full-time enrollment comprises 31% and the part-time 13% of this state's total head count enrollment. Seventy percent of the University of Nebraska sector enrollment is full-time students.

- Of the Fall 1994 total head count enrollment, the State College sector full-time head count enrollment was 5%, and the part-time 2%. The sector ratio for full-time to part-time enrollment was 69% to 31%, roughly 2 to 1.

- The Community College sector full-time head count enrollment was 9% and the part-time 23% of the Fall 1994 total head count enrollment. The Community College enrollment was 71% part-time, with only 29% full-time enrolled.

- The Independent sector full-time head count enrollment comprised 13%, and the part-time 4% of the total Fall 1994 head count enrollment. Seventy-four percent of the Independent sector enrollment was full-time students.

- Enrollment in Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities continues to be primarily full-time students. For Fall 1994, fifty-seven percent of the students were full-time enrolled. The Community College sector is unique with a larger part-time enrollment (71%), than full-time headcount enrollment (29%).

* The data for this summary appears in Appendix A, Tables A1, A,2 and A7.

 Kearney is included in the University sector as the University of Nebraska-Kearney.

Enrollment by Race and Ethnicity
Nebraska, United States, and Selected Midwestern States - 1990[1]

- The 1990 head count enrollment in postsecondary education for Nebraska included 94.4% White Non-Hispanic and 5.6% race/ethnic minority. This excludes Non-Resident Aliens.
- The minority enrollments for Nebraska in 1990 included: 2.5% Black Non-Hispanic, 1.4% Hispanic, 1.1% Asian/Pacific Islander, 0.7% American Indian/Alaskan. Non-Resident Aliens are excluded from these calculations.
- This 1990 comparison centers on Nebraska and selected neighboring states relative to the total United States. The neighboring states were picked for geographic proximity.
- Considering the total percentage of minority enrollment for the five minority groups described, Nebraska is lower than the U.S. in total percent minority enrollment. In fact, Nebraska had a lower percentage value for minority enrollment for each of the five minority groups compared to the U.S. total.
- Relative to the neighboring states of Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri, Nebraska had a middle-lower percentage value for American Indian/Alaskan, Black Non-Hispanic, and Hispanic enrollments. Nebraska had a lower percentage of enrollments in Asian/Pacific Islander and in Non-Resident Alien categories.

Fall 1994	101,805	3,242	2,173	2,606	1,786	927	--	112,539

- Minority head count enrollment is compared against the 1990 Census of population, age 18+. Compared to 6.3% minority persons in the population, the Fall 1990 postsecondary enrollment included 5.6% minority persons.

- In 1990, the percentage of minorities enrolled was under-represented for Black Non-Hispanic and for Hispanic persons. The percentage of Asian and Pacific Islanders (1.0%) exceeds the 1990 Census rate (0.7%).

- As the graph on the previous page displays, minority enrollments gradually have moved toward the 1990 Census rates. The Fall 1994 rates for Black Non-Hispanic (3.0%) and Hispanic (2.0%) are quite close to the 1990 Census rates. The rate of Asian/Pacific Islanders (1.6%) is double the 1990 Census rate. The American Indian/Alaskan Native category has remained near constant and close to the 1990 Census rate, 0.6%.

[1] The 1990 Census data are from the U.S. Bureau of Census Summary Tape Files 1A, STF1A.

[2] Excludes records with race ethnicity unknown. For 1994, this was 2% of the total enrollment.

- It is recognized that comparing enrollment rates for 1990-1994 against 1990 Census data assumes fixed population statistics. This is likely a false assumption. However, the 1990 Census is the most current population measure. The essential point remains that the percentage of minorities in Nebraska's postsecondary education appears to be growing.

- In Fall 1994, the percentage of Non-Resident Aliens enrolled in Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities was 2.3% of the student population. That percentage is not decreasing.

Sector Level Summary - 1990-1994

Some statistics can describe the minority composition in the context of total (majority and minority) head count enrollment for the Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities. The most prominent race/ethnic minority characteristics for Fall 1994 are described for each sector (calculations exclude categories Non-Resident Alien and Race Unknown):

- The Independent Colleges and Universities of Nebraska have the highest rate of total head count enrollment that is in a racial or ethnic minority. For Fall 1994, that minority rate was 9.2%. Their minority enrollment rates were Black Non-Hispanic 2.9%, Hispanic 2.0%, American Indian 1.8%, and Asian/Pacific Islanders 2.6%.

- For the University sector, the highest percent of minority enrollment was at the University of Nebraska--Omaha (10.0% for 1994) and the largest number of minority enrollment (1,373) was at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (both measures exclude Non-Resident Alien students). At the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Non-Resident Alien had the second largest count, following White Non-Hispanic. For 1994, the University's fall head count enrollment included 7.0% minority students.

- In Fall 1994, the Nebraska State College's fall head count enrollment included 5.0% minority students. Of the minorities, only Native Americans, 1.3%, exceeded the 1990 state census rate, 0.6%.

- In 1994, 7.6 percent of the Community College enrollments were from a minority race/ethnic group. All minority percentages exceeded the 1990 Census minority population rates.

- For Fall 1994, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, the Independent Colleges and Universities, the University of Nebraska Medical Center, and the State Colleges, in that order, had the highest percents of minority race/ethnic enrollment.

* The data used for this summary appear in Appendix A, Tables A8 through A10, and from earlier IPEDS surveys for the 1990, 1991, 1992, and 1993 numbers.

Total Head Count Enrollment by Gender For Nebraska Public And Independent Colleges And Universities - Fall 1994

- Each of the Nebraska Public and Independent College and University sectors had more women than men in their total 1994 head count enrollment. Women comprised 55% of the total head count enrollment. There were 63,675 women and 51,757 men enrolled fall term 1994 at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities.

- The percentage of total enrolled who are women ranged from 60% at the State Colleges to 51% women for the University system.

- The Independent Colleges and Universities had 59% women students in Fall 1994.

- The Community College system had 57% women students in Fall 1994.

- Enrollment by gender is stable for the years 1992 through 1994. The largest percentage variation within a sector is at the State Colleges: 1992-59%, 1993-58%, 1994-60%.

- The data for this summary appear in Appendix A, Tables A11 through A14 for gender counts.

Age Distributions for Students Enrolled at Nebraska's Postsecondary Education Institutions - 1994

- Age distributions were first available by IPEDS surveys for 1989, and since then for alternate years (1991 and 1993). Age will next be reported with the IPEDS survey for 1995 enrollment.

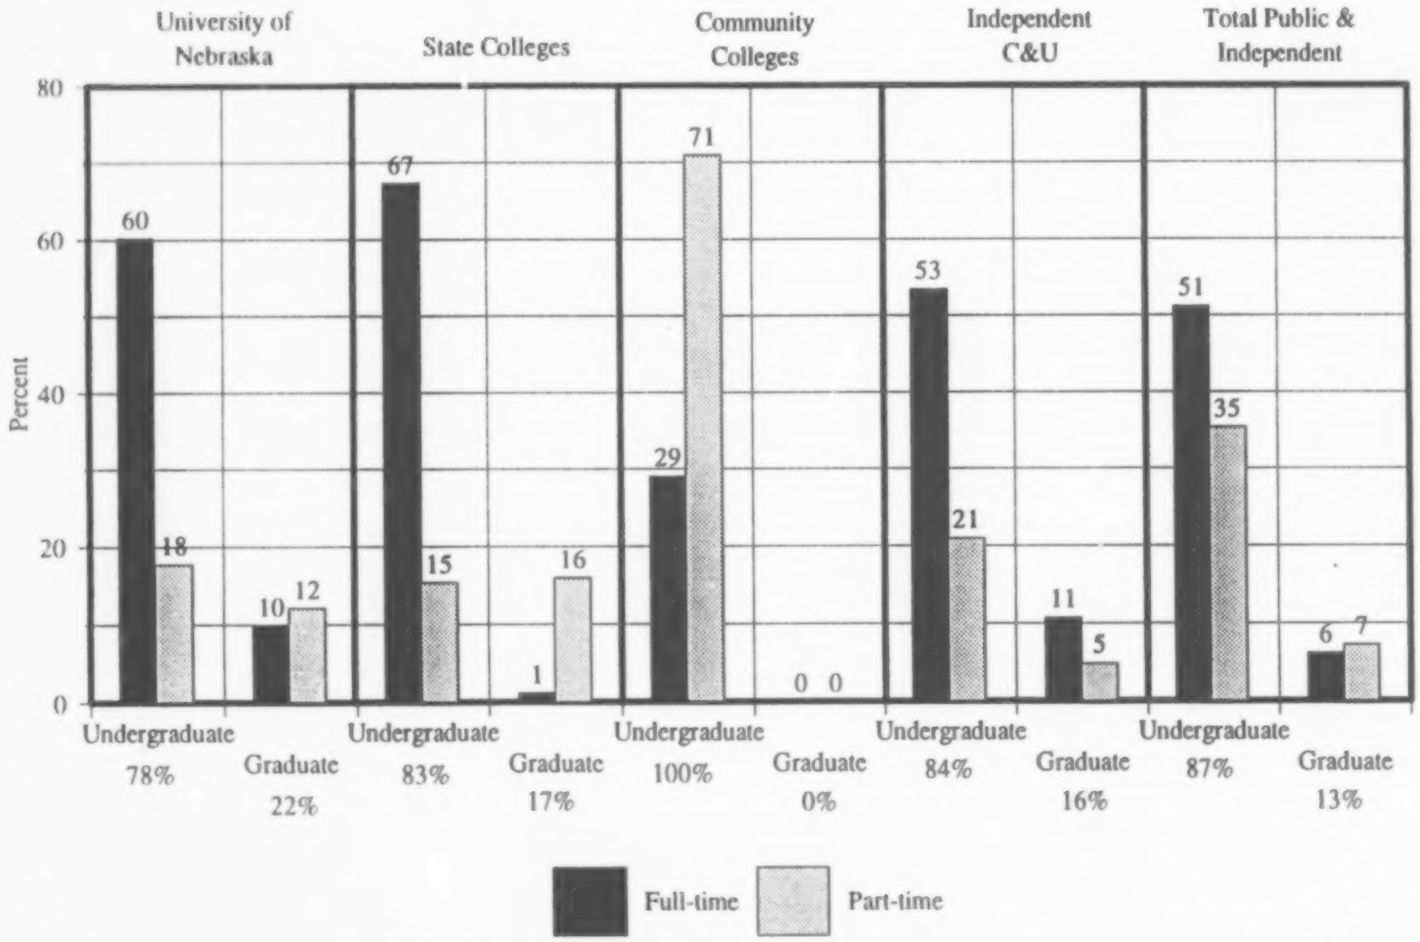
FALL 1994



Fall Enrollment by Full-time or Part-time for Levels

Essentially, the 2-year and shorter term programs are contained within the Community College sector. So, 2-year program levels are also depicted in the figure. The data percentages are indicative of that sector's role and mission to instruct 2-year and shorter undergraduate programs.

- Of the Public and Independent Colleges and Universities students, 87% were enrolled as undergraduate or unclassified. Viewed another way, of all students, 57% were enrolled full-time.
- The University of Nebraska had 22% of its Fall 1994 enrollment as graduate or first professional students. The University had the highest percentage of its sector total who were graduate or first professional.
- The Nebraska State Colleges are characterized as predominantly undergraduate, full-time enrollment including 67.4% for Fall 1994. In contrast to the undergraduate attendance, its graduate (no first-professional) attendance is very heavily part-time enrollment.
- Nebraska's Community College Fall 1994 attendance was 71% part-time enrolled. This rate is higher than for Fall 1993 (70%).
- The Independent Colleges and Universities in Nebraska had undergraduate and unclassified, first-professional and graduate rates (84%, 16%) that are quite close to the State College numbers (83%, 17%). However, for the Independents, a change from Fall 1993 is an increase in the percentage of part-time enrolled. In Fall 1993, twenty-four percent were part-time. In Fall 1994, the rate was 26%.
- With the exception of Nebraska's Community Colleges, the Public and Independent undergraduate attendances is dominated by full-time enrollment. Meanwhile, for graduate enrollment the Public sectors have mostly part-time enrolled, while the Independent Colleges and Universities are heavily full-time enrolled.

* The data used for this summary appear in Appendix A, Table A15. This summary includes (1) first-time enrolled freshmen and (2) other freshmen. The next pages and Tables A18 through A30 describe only first-time enrolled freshmen.

Fall Enrollment for Freshmen - Fall 1994

Enrollment by Full-time or Part-time

- Of the 16,541 Fall 1994 freshmen at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities, 79.4% were enrolled full-time.

- Of the total of all freshmen enrolled in Public and Independent Colleges and Universities (16,541 or 79.4%), 33.2% were enrolled full-time at the University of Nebraska, 8.6% were enrolled full-time at the State Colleges, 20.2% were enrolled full-time at the Community Colleges, and 17.4% were enrolled full-time at the Independent Colleges and Universities.

- Full-time enrollment was most common for University, State College, and Independent College/University freshmen (80% or higher by sector). Meanwhile, entering Nebraska Community College freshmen enrollments were more nearly equally enrolled with 55% full-time.

Enrollment by Gender

- For Fall 1994, more women than men enrolled as freshmen at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities. The percentages were 53.2% women, and 46.8% men.

- The ratio of women to men for Fall 1994 new freshmen for the University was 102 women per 100 men, for the State Colleges 115 women per 100 men, for the Community Colleges 112 women per 100 men, and for the Independent Colleges and Universities 143 women per 100 men.

* The data appear in Appendix A, Tables A16 and A17. This summary includes (1) first-time enrolled freshmen, and (2) other freshmen. The next pages and Tables A18 through A30 describe only first-time enrolled freshmen.

- The percentage of Nebraska residents and non-residents shown below of first-time Fall enrolled freshmen is by Sector. Appendix A, Tables A18 through A30 give further breakdown by institution of enrollment by Nebraska county of residence for Nebraska's Public Colleges and Universities.

	University of Nebraska	State Colleges	Community Colleges	Independent Colleges and Universities	Total

- Nebraska residents comprised 84% of the 1994 first-time enrolled freshmen (with known residence) at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities.

- At the University of Nebraska, 86.4% of the first-time freshmen were Nebraska residents.

- For the State Colleges, 78.9% were Nebraska residents.

- The Community Colleges enrolled 18.4% of all first-time freshmen, and 95% of those students were Nebraska residents.

- The Independent Colleges and Universities enrollment of first-time freshmen included 59% Nebraska residents. This is low compared to the other sectors. 47.2% of all non-Nebraska resident first-time freshmen were enrolled at the Independent Colleges and Universities.

Nebraska County or State/Country of Residence Profiles for Fall 1994 First-time Enrolled at Nebraska's Public Colleges and Universities

Maps displaying Nebraska percentages of first-time Fall enrolled freshmen at the for 13 public postsecondary institutions appear in Appendix A, Tables A18 through A30. Because the University of Nebraska Medical Center does not admit freshmen, there is no table for UNMC. These tables display some of the uniqueness for each public institution, as well as sector uniqueness. This can relate to each institution's role and mission, as well as to geographical service areas. Following are some characteristics of the 1994 Fall first-time enrolled students at Nebraska's Public Colleges and Universities:

- The 1994 freshman residency data reflects the following: the University displayed a wide geographical spread of its first-time freshmen, including 10% from other U.S. states, 3.4% from foreign countries, and participation from throughout the state.

- The first-time freshmen at NCTA-Curtis come from 44 (Nebraska) counties, at UNK from 86 counties, at UNL from 88 counties, and at UNO from 35 of Nebraska's 93 counties.

- NCTA-Curtis serves as a statewide two-year agricultural school, UNK and UNL serve as statewide Universities, and UNO draws from the eastern ⅓ of Nebraska, and primarily from the greater Omaha area.

- The three Nebraska State Colleges have clearly recognizable, service areas with little overlap.

- Chadron State College's freshmen come primarily from Western and West-Central Nebraska, Peru State's concentration is in South-Eastern Nebraska which includes Omaha area counties, and Wayne State encompasses North Eastern Nebraska counties, and again includes the Omaha area counties.

- Unique to the State College sector is the strong draw of out-of-state students who reside geographically close to the institutions: Chadron's first-time freshmen include 9.1% from Wyoming and 6.3% from South Dakota; Peru's include 4.9% from Iowa; and Wayne's include 14.7% from Iowa and 1.3% from South Dakota.

- The six Nebraska Community College areas have geographical service areas that are well defined with local tax support. This is identifiable in the attendance of Fall 1994 first-time enrolled freshmen on the maps on A25 through A30 in Appendix A.

- In relation to the local tax-funding, it is expected that a high percentage of the Community College students are Nebraska residents. Nebraska residents accounted for over 95% of the Fall 1994 first-time freshmen enrolled at Nebraska's six Community College Areas.

- Central Community College services Central and South Central Nebraska. Metropolitan Community College had 89% of its Fall 1994 new freshmen from Douglas and Sarpy counties; adding Cass, Dodge, and Washington brings the number to 95%. Mid-Plains draws from the West Central and South Western counties. Northeast covers the same Nebraska counties as Wayne State College, except Northeast misses the Omaha Metro counties. Southeast is well defined. Western Nebraska Community College had high attendance (70%) from two counties, Scotts Bluff and Cheyenne, where its campuses are located.

NOTE: The counts for "beyond baccalaureate" and "post masters" levels were sufficiently small that they each represent 0%, so are not displayed on the graphics.

Number of Degrees and Awards by Degree Level 1989-90 Through 1993-94

- For 1989-90 to 1993-94 there was an average annual increase of 3.6% in the total number of degrees granted by all public and independent postsecondary institutions in Nebraska. The number of degrees granted increased each year through 1993-94.

- For this 5-year span the relative percentage for degree levels is fairly constant with less-than-4-years degrees ranging 27% to 29%; bachelors degrees, 55%; masters degrees 10% to 12%; first professional and doctoral degrees, 6% of all degrees granted. For each year, the number of post-baccalaureate degrees is less than 1% of the total, and the number of post-masters degrees is also less than 1%. The graphic on the preceding page illustrates these percentages.

- A persistent characteristic of Nebraska postsecondary degrees for 1989-90 through 1993-94 is the consistency (low variability) for the percentage in each degree level.

- The degrees granted by the State Colleges are essentially bachelors and masters degrees. The ratio for numbers of bachelors to masters degrees was 8.2 to 1 in 1989-90, then 6.4 to 1 in 1990-91, then 6.0 to 1 for 1991-92, 5.5 to 1 for 1992-93, and 8.2 to 1 for 1993-94. Until 1993-94 the State Colleges were graduating an increasing percentage of master degrees.

- For 1989-90 to 1993-94, the number of degrees granted by the University of Nebraska increased by an average of 3.2% per year. For 1993-94, the University granted 100 associate degrees, 6,045 bachelors degrees, 1,641 masters and post baccalaureate degrees, and 632 post-masters, first professional and doctoral degrees.

- The Nebraska Community College degrees require under 4 years of post high school training. The number of Nebraska Community College degrees granted is relatively stable: 4,209 in 1989-90; 4,436 in 1991-92; and 4,479 in 1993-94. The Community Colleges also serve substantial numbers of students who are interested in specific course work for job related skills, who plan to transfer, and others enrolled in developmental education courses. Many do not aspire to a degree or other diploma.

- Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities granted 3,364 degrees and certificates in 1989-90, 3,890 in 1992-93, and 4,191 in 1993-94. The number of graduates increased each year with an average annual increase of 5%. For each of these years, 72% to 75% of the degrees granted were from baccalaureate degree programs.

* The data for this summary appear in Appendix B, Tables B1, B2, B3.

Number of Degrees and Awards by Category of Ethnicity, Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities 1993-94

The table on page 22 displays a count of 362 students with unknown race/ethnicity among 18,286 granted degrees and awards in 1993-94. The 362 (2.0%) missing count can have minimal effect. This summary uses the information that is known on race/ethnicity.

- For the 1993-94, completers of degrees and awards with known race/ethnic background, 91.9% were White Non-Hispanic, 3.1% were Non-Resident Aliens, 1.9% were Black Non-Hispanic, 1.2% were Hispanic, 1.3% were Asian/Pacific Islander, and 0.6% were American Indian or Alaskan.

  Because their profiles are quite distinct, the minority race/ethnic groups are described individually:

- The Non-Resident Alien group is unique in having 48% masters and higher level graduates. Compared to the race/ethnic minority rates, this is a high rate for post-baccalaureate and higher graduates. Only 2% graduated with under 4 year term degrees.

- Of the Black Non-Hispanic completers, 63% completed a baccalaureate deegree and 19% graduated from an under-4-year program. Only 15% received a graduate-level degree.

- The American Indian/Alaskan categories are a small count, so does not have stable percentages. For 1992-93, the ratio of below baccalaureate, baccalaureate, and masters+ was 61%, 31%, and 8%, respectively. For 1993-94 the ratio was 58%, 27%, and 15%, respectively.

- There were equal numbers of Asian/Pacific Islands completers at the baccalaureate and masters+ levels, 43% each, with the remainder (14%) degrees below the baccalaureate level. This profile is quite like Non-Resident Aliens.

- The Hispanic category profile is quite like the Black Non-Hispanic profile. The baccalaureate degree was the most common degree level for this group. Bachelor's degrees and lower comprised 83% of the 1993-94 Hispanic degrees and 17% received graduate level degrees.

- The number of minority race/ethnic degrees is a small percentage (5.0%) of the Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities total. It was 4.5% of the baccalaureate degrees and less; and 6.5% for post-baccalaureate or higher degrees.

- For 1989-90 through 1992-93, physical sciences with 32% to 35% of all associate degrees and certificate awards, and business, with 22% to 25% of that total, were the most common choices for a below baccalaureate program. Graduates in these two areas annually comprise 55% to 60% of the associate and lower degrees. For 1993-94, physical sciences accounted for 35% and business 22% of the below baccalaureate level completers.

- Health shows increasing numbers of below baccalaureate degrees. In 1993-94, there were 1,012 completers, up from 950 completers for 1992-93. This number (1,012) was 21% of the 1993-94 below baccalaureate degrees.

- Arts and Sciences completers were 8% of the 1993-94 below baccalaureate degrees. This is down from the 9% to 11% of total experienced for 1989 through 1993.

- The life sciences, social sciences, humanities, law and education disciplines each have under 4% of the number of associate and lower degrees granted.

Baccalaureate Level

- Business consistently registers the largest number of graduates for Nebraska baccalaureate degrees. For 1989 through 1992 the percentage was stable for business, ranging from 26.5% to 29% of all baccalaureate degrees. For 1993-94, business majors accounted for 26.4% of baccalaureate degrees.

- Education displays a stable profile for 1989-90 through 1992-93, including 15% to 16.5% of Nebraska's baccalaureate degrees. For 1993-94 its 1,465 completers were 14.5% of the state total.

- For 1989-92 the social sciences have regularly increased in number and percentage of baccalaureate completers. For 1989-90 the number of social science bachelors degrees was 1,305. The count was 1,652 for 1992-93, and increased to 1,680 for 1993-94. The social sciences regularly provide 15% to 17% of Nebraska's baccalaureate degrees.

- Health and Humanities areas continue to have increased numbers of completers. For 1993-94 the humanities had 11% and health 10% of baccalaureate graduates.

- Physical science and life science each annually have more than 5%, but less than 10% of the graduates with baccalaureate degrees.

* The data for this summary are from Appendix B, Table B5.

Beyond Baccalaureate: Post-Baccalaureate, Masters, Post-Masters, First-Professional, Doctorate

- For the years 1989-90 through 1992-93, masters degrees conferred in education were 37% to 42% of the masters level total degrees. For 1993-94, education had 873 masters degrees, which accounted for 40% of the 2,201 total masters level degrees.
- Business remains a distant second in the number of masters degrees granted with an annual rate of 13% to 20% for 1989 through 1992. For 1993-94, there were 375 (17%) masters degrees in business.
- The social sciences area also has a steadily increasing number of masters degrees conferred. The 221 social sciences masters degrees granted in 1993-94 was 10% of all masters degrees granted in Nebraska postsecondary education.
- Health majors regularly provide 50 to 100 masters degrees per year. For 1993-94, the number increased to 165. Health graduate level degrees are primarily at the first-professional level.
- Post-masters degrees continue to be granted in education, 30 to 40 per year. For 1993-94, the number was 35.
- The numbers show very little variation from 1992-93 rates for first time professional degrees conferred. For 1993-94, the percentages were law 41.8%, medicine 27.9%, dentistry 14.8%, pharmacy 15.5%. 1992-93 rates were quite close.
- For 1993-94, doctoral degrees were in education (27%) and life sciences (25%), physical science (17%), social sciences (10%), business (10%), humanities (6%), and general arts and sciences (1%). This is a complete list of areas for doctoral degrees granted in Nebraska in 1993-94.

The United States Data are IPEDS data from The Digest of Education Statistics, published by the U.S. Department of Education 1992 and 1995. The Nebraska data are from IPEDS Finance surveys for fiscal years 1989-90, 1992-93, and 1993-94, and appear in Table C5.

Profile of Revenue for Nebraska's Public Postsecondary Institutions 1989-90 Through 1993-94

Hospital revenues are recognized as being a large revenue source for Nebraska public postsecondary education relative to the 1992-93 U.S. norm. So the University Hospital and auxiliary enterprises were held out to evaluate the balance of revenue sources relative to the similarly qualified U.S. norm. The percentages are presented for major revenue sources USING THE MOST CURRENT AVAILABLE UNITED STATES TOTAL IPEDS DATA, FOR 1992-93 AND EXCLUDING HOSPITALS AND AUXILIARY ENTERPRISES REVENUE:

		Appropriations		Tuition/	Federal	Private
	Year	State	Local	Fees	Grants/Contracts	Gifts/Grants	Other
U.S.[1]	1992-93	46.2%	4.7%	22.6%	13.5%	5.0%	7.9%
Nebraska[2]	1992-93	46.5%	6.0%	17.9%	14.4%	6.9%	8.4%
Nebraska	1993-94	46.1%	6.2%	18.1%	13.8%	6.9%	8.9%

This table displays that when hospital and auxiliary services revenue are excluded, the percentages for major revenue sources for Nebraska's public postsecondary institutions are similar to the U.S. norms. For 1992-93 differences are a substantially lower Nebraska percentage of total revenues for tuition and fees, and higher percentages for local appropriations, and for federal and private gifts and grants. For 1993-94 local appropriations percentage has increased, while state appropriations and federal grants/contracts percents are lower relative to 1992-93.

The graphic on the preceding page displays the percentage of revenues for the categories of state appropriations, hospitals, tuition and fees, auxiliary enterprises, federal grants and contracts, private gifts and grants, local appropriations, and other. Some comparatives to the U.S. norm can help to describe a profile of revenue for Nebraska's public postsecondary institutions:

- State appropriations were a decreasing percentage of total revenues for 1989-90 to 1993-94. Nebraska's state appropriation decreased from 34.8% in 1989-90 to 33.2% for 1992-93, then to 33.0% for 1993-94. For 1992-93, the percent of revenue from state appropriation remained lower than the national norm.

- The 1989-90 Nebraska percent of revenue from hospitals was quite above the national norm. The U.S. rate was 9.5% while Nebraska's public institutions had 16.5% of total revenues from the University Hospital. For 1992-93, the Nebraska rate increased to 18.4%. In 1993-94 that rate leveled to 18.2%. Table C5 displays that the Nebraska revenue for hospitals is regularly balanced by a near equal dollar expenditure for hospitals.

- Tuition and fees are an increasing percentage of U.S. public institution revenues. The Nebraska public postsecondary institution percentage for tuition/fees is increasing, but the rate of increase appears slower than the national norm. Nebraska's actual dollars of revenues from tuition and fees were up 36% for 1993-94 over 1989-90.

[1] The U.S. data are from The Digest of Education Statistics (IPEDS), October 1995. U.S. Department of Education, Table 319. 1992-93 was the most recent year for which a national summary was published.

[2] The Nebraska public postsecondary institutions 1992-93 and 1993-94 data appear in Appendix C, Table C5.

COORDINATING COMMISSION FOR POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION

- Nebraska's public college and university federal grant and contract dollars were up an annual average 7.2% for 1989-90 through 1993-94. In 1989-90, this source as a percent of total Nebraska revenues was below the national norm. In 1992-93, Nebraska increased to 10.3%, near the federal percentage which was 10.8%. The Nebraska rate for 1993-94 was 9.8% of the state total revenues. This is a decrease from the 1992-93 dollar amount.

- For this same five-year period, private gifts and grants dollars have increased by $13.2 million, for an average annual increase of 8.4%. This source has remained level, near 4.9% of Nebraska public postsecondary institution revenue, through 1993-94. This percentage remained above the national norm through 1992-93.

- Through 1992-93, Nebraska's percentage of revenue from local appropriations remained slightly higher than the federal percentage. For 1989-90 it was 4.4% of total revenue and is essentially constant through 1993-94.

- Compared to a U.S. profile of revenue, the single dominant characteristic is the relative lower percentage of total revenues provided by tuition and fees in Nebraska public postsecondary education. Hospital revenue remained higher than the U.S. norm, but Nebraska's hospital revenue dollars remain matched by hospital expenditures for 1991-92 through 1993-94.

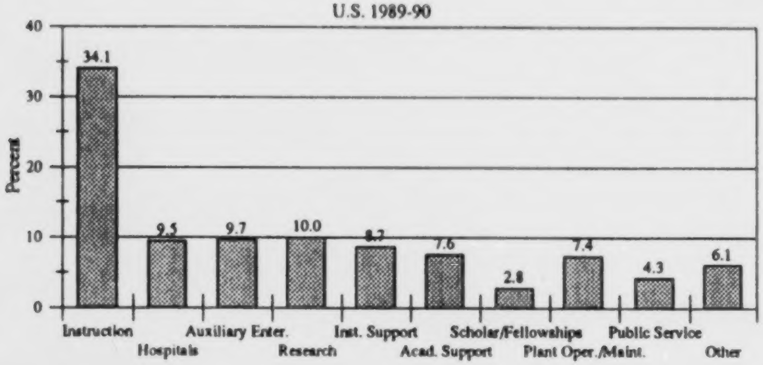
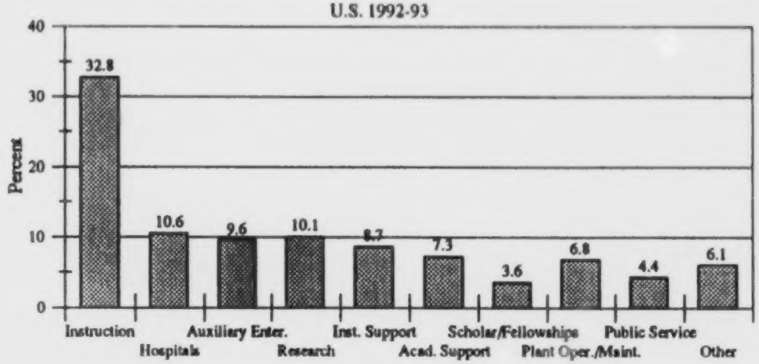
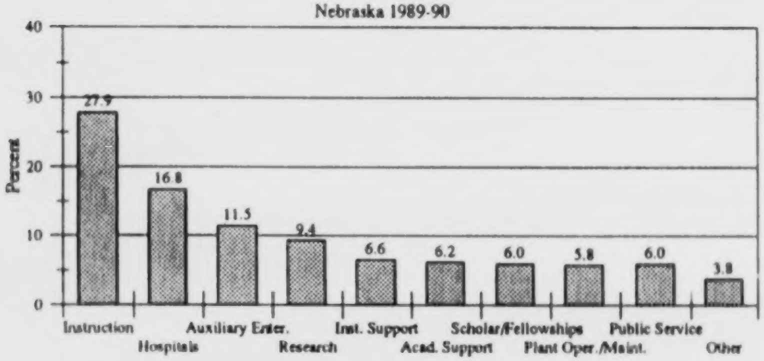
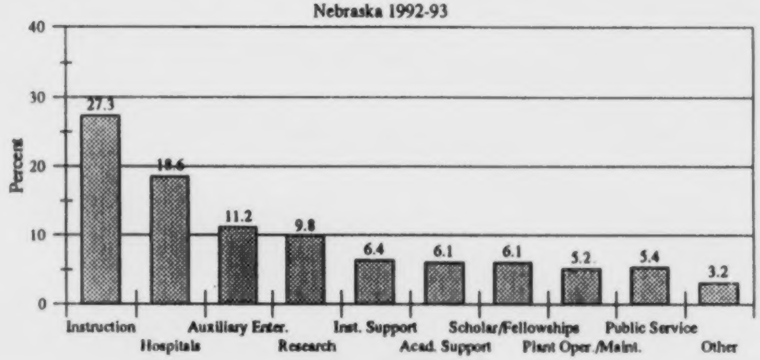
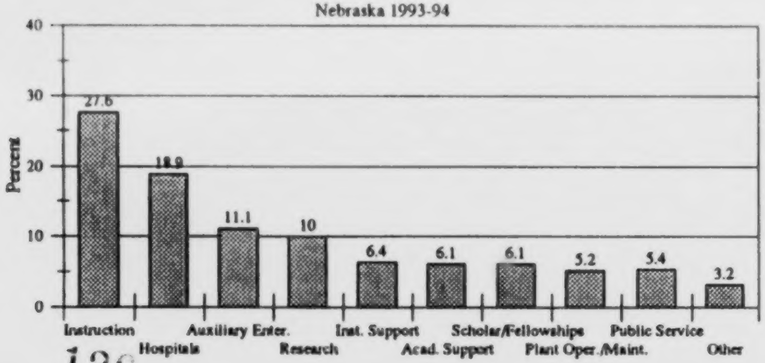
PROFILE OF EXPENDITURES
NEBRASKA PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS
1989-90 THROUGH 1993-94











The United States Data are IPEDS data from The Digest of Education Statistics, published by the U.S. Department of Education 1992 and 1995. The Nebraska data are from IPEDS Finance surveys for fiscal years 1989-90, 1992-93, and 1993-94, and appear in Table C5.

Profile of Expenditures for Nebraska's Public Postsecondary Institutions 1989-1990 Through 1993-1994

Hospital expenditures are recognized as a large expenditure source for Nebraska public postsecondary education relative to the U.S. norm. So the University Hospital and auxiliary enterprises were held out to evaluate the balance of expenditures relative to the similarly qualified U.S. norm. The percentages are presented for major expenditure sources EXCLUDING HOSPITAL AND AUXILIARY ENTERPRISES EXPENDITURES AND USING THE MOST CURRENT PUBLISHED IPEDS NATIONAL DATA, WHICH ARE FOR 1992-93:

	Year	Instruction	Research	Institutional Support	Academic Support	Public Service	Student Services	Scholarship/ Fellowships	Plant Operation & Maint.	Other
U.S.[1]	1992-93	41.1%	12.7%	10.8%	9.1%	5.5%	6.2%	4.5%	8.5%	1.6%
Nebraska[2]	1992-93	38.9%	13.9%	9.2%	8.7%	7.8%	4.0%	8.7%	7.4%	1.5%
Nebraska	1993-94	39.3%	14.3%	9.2%	8.7%	7.7%	4.1%	7.8%	7.4%	1.5%

This table displays for 1992-93 that, with hospital and auxiliary services expenditures excluded, the percentages for major expenditure sources for Nebraska's public postsecondary institutions are generally comparable to the U.S. norm. Notable exceptions are for public service, research, and scholarships/fellowships wherein Nebraska's percentage rates are higher, and for instruction, institutional support and student services having percentages lower than the national norm. The 1993-94 percentages are increased for instruction and research, and are lower for scholarships/fellowships.

The graphic on the preceding page displays the percentage of total expenditures for the categories of instruction, the University Hospital, auxiliary enterprises, research, institutional support, academic support, student scholarships and fellowships, plant operation and maintenance, public service, and other. Some comparatives to the U.S. norm can help to describe a profile of expenditures for Nebraska's public postsecondary institutions.

- The data table on page 33 (or Appendix C, Table C5) display a modest decrease with time in the percentage of Nebraska postsecondary education total expenditures used for instruction. From 1989-90 to 1993-94, the decrease was from 27.9% to 27.6%.

- Relative to the U.S. norm for 1989-90, Nebraska's public postsecondary institutions were using a slightly lower percent of expenditures for instruction. The U.S. norm for 1989-90 was 34.1%, while Nebraska used 27.9% for instruction. In 1992-93 the U.S. rate decreased to 32.8%, while Nebraska's public institutions rate decreased to 27.3% of expenditures for instruction. The U.S. and Nebraska patterns are slowly decreasing percentages of total expenditures given to instruction.

- For 1989-90, hospitals at 16.8% of expenditures was quite above the national norm (9.5%). Hospital expenditures continue to increase. For 1992-93 this figure was 18.6% of Nebraska's public postsecondary expenditures, compared to 10.6% for the national norm. For 1993-94 Nebraska's figure was 18.9% of expenditures for the University hospital.

[2] The Nebraska public and postsecondary institutions 1992-93 and 1993-94 data appear in Appendix C, Table C5 and on page 34.

- Auxiliary enterprises remain a slightly higher part of the total expenditure for Nebraska compared to the U.S. norm. Comparative of percentages for 1992-93 is U.S. 9.6% and Nebraska 11.2%.

- For Nebraska, research expenditures as a percentage of total are increasing and for 1992-93 were comparable to the U.S. percent of expenditures for research. The percentages for 1992-93 were U.S. 10.1% and Nebraska 9.8%. For 1993-94, this increased to 10% of the Nebraska expenditure.

- For 1989-90 and 1992-93, Nebraska was above the U.S. norm in the percentage of expenditures used for scholarships and fellowships. The U.S. norm was about 3.6%, whereas Nebraska's public institutions regularly spend 6% of their budget on scholarships/fellowships. The 1993-94 rate for Nebraska (6.1%) was the same as 1992-93.

- Nebraska public institution plant operation and maintenance has received a lower percentage of the budget each year for 1989-90 through 1993-94. The percentage was 5.15% for 1993-94 down from 5.8% in 1989-90.

Profile of Revenue for Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities 1989-1990 Through 1993-94[1]

The graphics on the preceding page display the percentage of revenues for the categories of tuition and fees, sales and services of education activities, auxiliary enterprises, private gifts and grants, federal grants and contracts, and other (including hospital). This and the data on the next page are the basis for the following summaries.

- Tuition and fees is the largest source of revenues for Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities.
- The percentage of total revenue coming from tuition and fees dollars has increased from 41.5% in 1989-90 to 46.3% for 1993-94. For 1992-93, this source was 45.4% of total revenue for Nebraska, compared to a slightly lower 41.2% for the U.S. private colleges and universities rate.
- Sales and services of educational activities at 0.2% of 1992-93 revenues is a small revenue source for Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities. The rate is well below the U.S. norm.
- For each year 1989-90 through 1993-94, the auxiliary enterprises provided over 9% of the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities annual revenue. The dollar amount continues to increase. However, the percentage of total revenue coming from this source has regularly decreased and in 1993-94 was 9.4% of the total.
- Actual dollars in private gifts increased by 15.5% for 1988-89 through 1993-94. This revenue source is stable, which results in a decreased percentage of revenues from 12.4% in 1989-90 to 10.5% in 1993-94.
- Relative to the U.S. norm for private colleges, Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities receive a substantially lower percentage of revenues form the federal government in grants and contracts. For 1989-90, the U.S. norm was 15.9%; the Nebraska rate was 6.3%., For 1992-93, the U.S. rate was 14.9%. The Nebraska rate was unchanged at 6.2% for 1992-93, and 5.9% for 1993-94.
- Of its revenue sources, student tuition and fees provides the highest percentage of the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities total revenue. This was 46.3% in 1993-94. Similarly, U.S. private colleges and universities acquire about 41% of revenues from tuition and fees. And the rate is increasing both for Nebraska and the U.S.

The United States Data are IPEDS data from The Digest of Education Statistics, published by the U.S. Department of Education 1992 and 1995. The Nebraska data are from IPEDS Finance surveys for fiscal years 1989-90, 1992-93, and 1993-94, and appear in Table C23

Profile of Expenditures for Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities 1989-1990 Through 1993-1994

The following summaries relate to the graphics on the preceding page and to the data on page 39, taken from Table C23. The graphic displays the percentage of total expenditures for instruction, institutional support, student scholarships and fellowships, auxiliary enterprises, academic support, student services, plant operation and maintenance, and other. Comparisons to the U.S. norm for private colleges and universities can help describe the expenditures for Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities.[1]

- The 1989-90 U.S. profile shows an average 26.4% of private institution expenditures going to instruction. Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities spend a significantly higher percentage. Annually 41% to 43% of their total budget is for instruction. The Nebraska rate is stable; it was 42.1% in 1989-90, 43.2% in 1991-92, 43.0% in 1992-93, and 41.3% in 1993-94.

- Financial support in scholarships and fellowships was 12.3% versus 8.7% for the United States in 1989-90. That rate for the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities expenditure is increasing; it was 14.2% for 1992-93, then 14.0% for 1993-94. The U.S. rate is flat through 1992-93.

- For institutional support, the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities percentage of expenditures is close but remains slightly higher than the U.S. rate. This was 11.3% of the 1993-94 expenditures, down from 11.5% for 1992-93.

- Research expenditures is an area where Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities are below the national norm.[2] For 1992-93, the national norm for this area was 7.7% of annual expenditures. The comparable percentage for the Nebraska Independent Colleges and Universities for 1992-93 was below 3%. The Nebraska rate remained below 3% for 1993-94.

- The Nebraska independent institutions are also below the national percentage for plant operation expenditures.[2]

- Nebraska's Independent Colleges and Universities are putting a substantial percentage of their budget dollars into instruction. The supporting data in Table C23 display steady increases for 1988-89 through 1993-94 in dollars funded for instruction were up an average annual 8.3%, and funding academic support had increased by an average of 16.8% per year.

Number of Full-time Instructional Faculty by Rank, Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities 1985-1994

The data plots on the preceding page display the number of full-time instructional faculty by rank for the ten year period 1985 through 1994. A section is shaded to show the patterns of decreasing numbers for the instructor rank, and concurrently the increase in numbers of no academic rank full-time instructional faculty. Other summary is given in the following:

- For 1985 through 1994, the total number of postsecondary full-time instructional faculty at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities increased from 3,586 to 4,051. This is a 1.4% average annual increase. In the span of 1985 to 1994, the ratio of total head count enrollment divided by the total number of full-time faculty increased from 27.3:1 to 28.5:1.

- The most obvious change in numbers of full-time faculty by rank is the decrease in the number of instructors and an increase in no rank assigned full-time faculty.

- In 1985, individuals with no assigned academic rank accounted for 5.7% of the total full-time instructional faculty. In 1994, the no assigned rank group had increased to 17.4% of the total. In this same time, the numbers of instructors decreased from 761 to 292, that is from 21.2% to 7.2% of the total count. There is a clear movement of Nebraska's Community Colleges from assigning full-time faculty as instructors, to designating full-time instructional faculty positions with no assigned academic rank. This change is viewed in the data on the following page and Table D3.

- The assistant professor count has steadily increased beginning in 1988. This group shows a 24% increase in count for 1985-1994.

- For 1985 through 1987, there was a decrease in numbers for associate, and full professors. Beginning with 1988, there were slight increases in the number of professors and associate professors. This pattern continues.

- For 1985-94, the statewide count of professors remains near constant, with an increase of 6% for these ten years. The number of associate professors has increased 16.5%.

NOTE: The lecturer rank is excluded from the graphics and this discussion because the counts were small numbers. These counts ranged from 16 to 53.

* The data for this summary are from Appendix D, Table D3 for 1993, and like data from IPEDS surveys for 1985 through 1992. The data are displayed on the following page.

COORDINATING COMMISSION FOR POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION

Percent Females of Full-time Instructional Faculty by Rank at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities - Fall 1984-1989-1994

- For Fall 1994, the number of professors at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities was 1,022 with 11% females; 933 associate professors with 25% females; 1,046 assistant professors with 46% females; 292 instructors with 54% females; and 704 no academic rank with 39% females. Lecturers included only 50 faculty, so percentages are not reported for this group.

- Except for the no academic rank group, the percentage of males increased directly with academic rank. That is, the percentage of professors that are male is significantly higher than the percentage of associate professors that are male. Similarly, the percentage for associate professors that are male is higher than the percentage for assistant professors and instructors, and so on. Then for women, the higher up the professional rank, the lower is the percentage of women.

- For Fall 1994 and the instructor rank, the number of women exceeded the number of men. The instructor rank included 157 females and 135 males.

- The following table shows an increase, with time, for the percentage of females to total faculty:

Rank	1984-85	1989-90	1993-94	1994-95
No Academic Rank	35%	36%	37%	39%
Instructor	45%	42%	52%	54%
Assistant Professor	39%	41%	45%	46%
Associate Professor	20%	19%	23%	25%
Professor	6%	9%	10.5%	11%

- Full professors rank includes slight increasing percentages of women.

- For the associate and assistant professor ranks, the percent of females was stable for 1984-95 to 1989-90. Between 1989-90 and 1994-95, these ranks display a perceptible increase in the percent of faculty who are females.

- The no academic rank faculty assignment for Fall 1994 included 704 persons. This is up 342% above the Fall 1985 count (206). Whereas the percentage of females is increasing for the instructor rank, it is steady at about 39% females for no academic rank faculty.

- For 1984-85 to 1989-90, there was an increase in the percentage of full-time faculty who are females. This trend can be observed in the graphic on page 47.

Average Salaries of Full-time Instructional Faculty, Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges & Universities Fall 1985 Through Fall 1994[1]

- An evaluation for all Nebraska public and independent colleges and universities for Fall 1985-86 through Fall 1994-95 shows an increase from 3,586 full-time instructional faculty to 4,051. This is a 1.4% average annual increase.

- For the same years, the average salaries increased from $27,117 to $42,163. This is an increase of 55.5% in actual dollars, for an average increase of 6.2% per year.

- The following table displays, for full-time faculty, the (1) increase in actual average dollar salaries and (2) the real buying power increase based on the cost-of-living for average salary changes between Fall 1989 to Fall 1994:

			Percentage Increase from Fall 1989 to Fall 1994

* The reliability of a calculation is questionable because it is based on 13 records for Fall 1989 and 53 records for Fall 1994; therefore, no percentage is reported.

† The dollar amounts used are average salaries of full-time faculty. In fact, this does not give a total summary because part-time, adjunct and other instructional staff are excluded.

- For the professor rank, the actual average salary for Fall 1994 was up 23% above the average for Fall 1989. Deflated by the Consumer Price Index,[2] the buying power increased by 2.9%. Stated otherwise, for the period from Fall 1989 through Fall 1994 the full-time faculty average salary increase exceeded the (cost-of-living) inflation rate by 2.9%. On average their pay increased per year by about 0.6% (less than 1%) beyond inflation.

- Comparable percents appear for other faculty ranks. For example, the "no academic rank" category actual average annual dollars increased by 5.5%. This equates to an average annual increase of 1.4% in buying power.

Average Salaries of Full-time Instructional Faculty by Gender, Tracking Student to Faculty Ratio and Tenure Rate Changes - Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities for 1990-91 Through 1994-95*

- In Fall 1993, there were 2,751 male and 1,217 female full-time faculty working at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities. In Fall 1994, the numbers were 2,750 men and 1,301 women. The number of women faculty increased by 84 (7%) from Fall 1993 to Fall 1994.

- The number of full-time instructional faculty increased from 3,775 in Fall 1990 to 4,040 in Fall 1994. This is a an average annual increase of 1.75%.

- For Fall 1990, the ratio of total head count enrollment to total full-time faculty was 112,521 to 3,775 or 29.8 to 1. The comparable ratio for Fall 1994 was 115,432 to 4,040, or 28.5 to 1. This indicates a small reduction in the ratio of total head count enrollment to full-time faculty. This measure is at best coarse. A more meaningful expression is full-time equivalent (FTE) divided by total FTE faculty. However, this expression is not available from the existing IPEDS summary data.

- Tracking average (mean) salaries for the Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities over four years from Fall 1990 through Fall 1994 indicates an overall increase of 1%. This is an average actual dollars annual increase of 3⅓% over the Fall 1990 base. It is an average annual dollars increase of 0% when deflated for the increased cost of living for 1990 to 1994.

- For professors, the salary change for 1990-91 as base to 1994-95 was $50,757 to $57,496. This is an average annual increase of 3.3%. The related average annual increase for other ranks was: associate professors 3.5%; assistant professors 2.4%; instructors 3.7%; no academic rank assigned 4.3%.

- Table D5, Appendix D, gives average salaries for males and for females by academic rank for full-time faculty at Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities. For Fall 1994 the average salary for male professors was $58,467 and for female professors it was $49,910. The average salaries at the associate professor rank were $45,483 for men and $41,703 for women; at the assistant professor rank the averages were $37,660 for men and $35,608 for women. These amounts are not adjusted for length of service, or other.

- The IPEDS table on percent of full-time instructional faculty that are tenured, Table D7, displays that for Fall 1994, 10% of the Community Colleges' full-time instructional faculty were tenured, whereas 47% of all full-time instructional faculty were tenured for the total Nebraska Public and Independent Colleges and Universities. At the Community Colleges, tenure has a meaning that is different from the remaining Nebraska postsecondary institutions.

- For 1994-95, the percent of full-time instructional faculty by rank that were tenured was: professors 96%; associate professors 72%; assistant professors 14%; other including instructors, lecturers and no academic rank 9%.

Head Count Enrollment in Nebraska's Private Career Schools - Fall 1994

- Head count enrollment was available from IPEDS surveys for categories including full-time and part-time status, by gender, and by race/ethnicity.

- The total head count enrollment was 3,361 students for the 32 reporting Private Career Schools. Of these students, 3,015 (90%) were enrolled full-time.

- The number of women enrolled was 2,327, or 69% of the total. More men than women were enrolled in the following schools: Gateway Electronics Institute, ITT Technical Institute, and Universal Technical Institute. Otherwise, more women than men were enrolled at each of the Private Career Schools.

- The enrollment composition by race/ethnic category was Non-Resident Alien: 4 (0.1%), Black Non-Hispanic: 389(12.4%), American Indian/Native Alaskan: 18 (0.6%), Asian and Pacific Islanders: 34(1.1%), Hispanic: 61 (2%), and White Non-Hispanic: 2,629 (83.9%). The 226 students of unknown race/ethnicity origin were excluded from this summarization. Relative to the 1990 Census of Population, Nebraska residents aged 18+ years, this distribution has greater percentages of Black Non-Hispanic, and Hispanic persons, and fewer White Non-Hispanic persons.

* The data for this summary are from Tables E1, E2, and E3.

Degrees and Other Formal Awards Granted at Nebraska's Private Career Schools - 1993-94

- The number of degrees and other formal awards granted was available from IPEDS surveys for categories including gender and race/ethnicity.

- Of the 2,052 graduates or completers reported, 1,533 or 74.7% were women. Most programs graduate more women than men. Exceptions, are the following Nebraska Private Career Schools with more men than women completers: Gateway Electronics Institute, ITT Technical Institute, and Universal Technical Institute.

- Race/ethnicity was known for 1,949 (95%) of the 2,052 private career school degree and other award completers. Of those with known race/ethnicity 83.8% were White, Non-Hispanic, 13.6% were Black, Non-Hispanic, 1.4% were Hispanic, 0.7% were Asian and Pacific Islanders, 0.6% were American Indian or Alaskan Natives, and 0.1% were Non-Resident Aliens.

Some Notes about the Data

The data for Nebraska's Public and Independent Colleges and Universities were taken directly from the IPEDS (Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System) survey forms, submitted annually by the public and independent institutions at the request of the U.S. Department of Education. The information collected for the Private Career Schools is for enrollments and degrees and awards. There is no data herein for finances and faculty salaries for the Private Career Schools. Also, the Private Career Schools are ones that are eligible to participate in federal financial assistance programs authorized by Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965. Other Private Career Schools in Nebraska have chosen to not participate in the IPEDS survey, so are not in this report.

The Commission reports faculty salary information on a 9-month basis, computing all 11/12 month faculty contracts to 9-month contracts where necessary. Although the number of months (nine) is consistent, this report does not take into account the number of work days within each academic term.

Through 1991, data reported for the University of Nebraska - Lincoln includes the Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture, NCTA, a two-year institution located in Curtis, Nebraska. This is simply a matter that the data are combined on the database, and the data are not otherwise available for a separation. Beginning with the 1992 survey, NCTA data are listed separately from UN - Lincoln.

The Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education appreciates the efforts and cooperation of registrars, business officers, research analysts, and IPEDS Coordinators at the many institutions surveyed.

Additionally, Kearney State College became the University of Nebraska at Kearney on July 1, 1991. It is listed as UN - Kearney with data placement for all years in the University System. Exceptions are noted in the data tables.
